WAKE UP MY CHILD

Wake up as the morning is new and sun is shining on the dew.

Wake up as the wishes are more and yesterday's problems are few.

Wake up to rise again as the fresh start is replacing the freak outs.

Wake up as today might be the best day of this year as the people who are making it best are also waking up too.

Wake up to see the texture of dawn as the dusk is already taken the plight in your direction.

Wake up as somebody is praying for your welfare as those hands are always asking of few things from God.

Wake up to give one smile at least to one person as there are so many to smile back to you.

Wake up because I want to see the spark in you as opportunities have already started knocking your door.

Wake up because I waited for the night to be over as I can not start my day without saying that " I LOVE You, You are MY STRENGTH. I WANT TO BE YOUR STRENGTH".

Wake up as I want to hear something similar too.
Wake up my child .
